Our innovative concept

According to Importance – Body Levels – Steps Therapy

The innovative concept of the hospital Klinik im LEBEN Germany combines the basic elements of conventional medicine with recognised and proven methods of complementary and holistic medicine.

During illness, life makes no difference between body, mind and soul. Therefore, all levels of the body are included in diagnostics and therapy. Following the principle “Importance, Levels and Steps”, together with you, we will find the best way to improve your health, and we will spend time with you to find your optimal healing process.

Treatment by importance means that at this particular moment, we will do what is most important. Therapy by levels is based on the knowledge that every chronic illness and cancer affects all body levels, and they should then be treated according to importance. Steps therapy is based on the principle: “Open up excretion paths, detox, regenerate, harmonise, and stabilise” – on all levels.

This concept moves away from the unbalanced or linear-causal thinking. It is highly effective and, in the long-run, very cost-efficient.

This starts with functional diagnostics as the summation of several methods, which we call the BioCheck, as a kind of inventory, which then makes individualised therapy possible.

This is created together with the patient in the framework of a plan of treatment.

The active involvement of the patient in the therapy, the discussion meetings and all treatments is a basic prerequisite.

BioCheck im LEBEN

Holistic biological diagnostics method for the recognition of the cause of illness

The unique function diagnostics and summation diagnostics help the patient, as well as the therapist, to recognise the cause of illness on all levels. The individual therapy concept is based on this - it will leave a positive and long-lasting impression on the healing process.

The diagnostic threshold for health and all levels of the human organism – body, soul and mind - is very low in biological medicine. Through that, we can recognise an imbalance in the body even before an organ shows signs of illness.

Based on this, BioCheck im LEBEN was developed. Through holistic examination methods, BioCheck im LEBEN provides profound information about cause and effect of your physical fitness, providing a deliberate health through joy in life.

Holistic biological cancer medicine

The biological cancer therapy consists only of certified biological treatment methods which are of value to the patient. The biological cancer therapy, as a holistic treatment method, supports the healing process through the patient's newly activated will to live.

Live for LIFE – this is what we stand for at the hospital Klinik im LEBEN in Germany. Conventional medicine treats cancer with surgery, radiotherapy and chemotherapy, and only looks at the body for treatment. Biological cancer medicine, however, includes all body levels for diagnosis and therapy. The in LIVE medicine is a concept that considers a person's mind, body and soul as a whole, and structures the treatment according to "importance, levels and steps". Together with you, we will find the optimal healing process for you. We will stimulate your body with healing impulses, and find the best way for your body to feel better and to recover.

We treat you as a person in the hospital Klinik im LEBEN. We take your fears seriously; we maintain your dignity and provide you with all the expertise and empathy you need on your path to health.

Most types and forms of cancer illnesses can be treated as part of the biological cancer therapy, for example:

- Breast Cancer
- Cervical Cancer
- Ovarian Cancer
- Pancreatic Cancer
- Brain Tumours
- Prostate Cancer
- Lung Cancer
- Colon Cancer
- Skin Cancer

Together with you, we will create a therapy schedule according to the principle "Importance, Levels, and Steps ". The reduction of fears in connection with the illness and diagnosis, the personal discussion about the illness between therapist and patient, as well as the balancing of personal life circumstances play a big role during the treatment. Also during the treatment, our well-trained nurses and care workers as well as our team of doctors will look after you.

Hyperthermia / Active High Temperature Therapy

"Give me a means to induce fever
and I will heal any disease."

by Parmenides ,
500 BC

Therapeutic fever for immune system improvement, increase in energy and removal of pain

Moderate hyperthermia will safely increase the body temperature to up to 40 degrees Celsius through infrared radiation. This will stimulate the metabolic regulation, as well as provide energy for immune system stimulation. The immune system will also be improved by the combination of oxygen inhalation and the intake of vitamins, procaine base, as well as organic peptides. This natural treatment results in a clear stimulation of blood and lymph fluid circulation, and therefore significantly enhances detoxification in the body.

Fever – a natural remedy

Fever is a natural defence reaction of the human body. The immune system's defence cells work best at a temperature above 39 degree Celsius. At this high temperature, all metabolic and detoxification processes are stimulated intensely. This helps overcome infections, inflammations and pain much quicker and more effectively. During fever, the build-up of perspiration activates the excretion of toxic substances. This purifies the body and improves metabolism. After the fever, the body relaxes and the pain disappears.

Complementary effects of hyperthermia:

- Increase in blood circulation
- Acceleration of metabolism and excretion processes
- Decrease of muscle tonus
- Increased stimulus conduction of nerve fibres
- Stimulation of the body's own defences
- Chronic bacteria and virus illnesses can be cured
- Distribution of body's own hormones
- Build-up of energy, conditioning

Moderate and safe temperatures are those up to a maximum of 40.5 degree Celsius. However, many therapy successes can already be registered at temperatures above 38.5 degree Celsius.

Deep Local Hyperthermia

ONCOTHERMIA results in a selective heat build-up of body tissue, leading to damage of cancer cells, activation of defence cells, as well as an increase in circulation and metabolism. The surrounding tissue is only slightly warmed up. With this, a pain reduction therapy (blocking pain receptors) is possible which can also be used for back pain treatment as well as for osteoarthritis. The cancerous cells are warmed up selectively (so called self focussing) - as a result these either die off, or their growth is stopped completely. At the same time, the cancer cell membranes become more permeable and react more sensitively to other treatments (e. g. cytostatic drugs, vitamin C, mistletoe, herbal substances).

SUCCESS IN TARGETED OVERHEATING OF TUMOUR CELLS

Anyone who treats cancer wants to be able to destroy tumour cells selectively, to maintain the healthy tissue, and to keep the body's defence system intact. Hyperthermia makes this now possible using the Oncothermia treatment. By this method, cancerous tissue is heated up so much that it dies, or at least stops the growth process.

THE ACTIVE PRINCIPLE

The patient lies between two differently sized condenser plates, between which an electric field is created with a frequency of 13.5 MHz. Cancerous tissue and healthy tissue have different dielectric constants (the so-called complex impedance resonance of the molecules in the cell membrane). The dielectric constant in cancerous tissue is between 8 and 15 MHz, and for healthy tissue it is between 80 to 100 MHz. The resonance vibration creates intense molecular friction and so generates heat and a Electromagnetic tissue relaxation and signal effect on the cells (improved healing, self-healing of cells that are only slightly affected).

Electro Cancer Therapy (ECT)

Electro Cancer Therapy (ECT), or electro-chemical tumour therapy, is a tumour eradication process during cancer treatment which often allows the dissolution of tumour tissue without surgical intervention.

The effect of ECT is summarised as follows: If the tumour tissue has direct current applied through electrodes, the resulting current flow will lead to a chemical change in the tumour cell. The triggered processes cause the development of hydrochloric acid within the cancer cell which will destroy the cell membrane. Because of the different resistance values in comparison to healthy tissue, the current flow is focussed on the tumour alone, and therefore no healthy tissue is destroyed.

Areas of application of Electro Cancer Therapy

Surface as well as deep embedded primary tumours and metastases in all organs, except for areas that are shielded by bones, such as brain tumours or bone metastases.

Combination of ECT with alternative therapy methods

To improve the treatment effect, it is recommended to combine ECT with vitamin, mineral and vital substance infusion. Detoxification and excretion treatment help the organism to eliminate destroyed tumour tissue, and purification of the body.

Side effects and contraindications of electrochemical tumour treatments

Skin irritations can occasionally occur in the area where the electrodes are applied. The patient may feel minor pain when the dissolving tumour tissue is dissipated.

There may be contraindications in patients with implanted pacemaker electrodes or defibrillators. With certain safety precautions, however, these patients may also be treated.

Prostate Cancer Therapy - Transurethral Prostate Hyperthermia (TUH)

An alternative for prostate surgery. A holistic method, free of side-effects, with proven therapy success.

Benign prostate enlargements, as well as prostate cancer, can be treated. Besides the overheating of the effected tissue, an electric field consisting of radio shortwave frequencies is created. By this method, the destruction of tumour cells is effected, and the natural healing processes are activated.

The Method

A special catheter is inserted in the patient's urethra during this treatment; this catheter is connected to the hyperthermia device. The patient will not be exposed to radiation or microwaves.

Long-term study proves therapy success

The treatment has a proven therapy success record. A study with 123 patients with prostate disease shows a success rate of over 95% in local clinical remission during the treatment of malignant prostate tumours. The illness can be controlled very well, both in the short and long-term, with patients having a high quality of life – another positive effect of this method. During the study, the prostate specific antigen PSA was reduced largely and maintained on a low level for over 3 years.

Duration of treatment and frequency

A TUH treatment lasts 180 minutes. On average, three treatments on a weekly basis are required. After that, the treatment is paused and the treatment effect is determined. It may be recommended to repeat the treatment cycle for maintaining the achieved state, or to further improve the results.

Prostate Cancer Therapy - Transurethral Prostate Hyperthermia (TUH)

malignant Tumours

benign Tumours

Treatment of malignant Tumours

The therapy for the malignant prostate carcinoma is focussed exclusively on the tumour. Transurethral hyperthermia can be selective; the tumour tissue will be destroyed without damaging healthy tissue. This selectiveness is of particular importance for the treatment of tumours where the malignant tissue can be found, particularly in the prostate environment, for example on the edge of the prostate.

The focussing effect does not work only on defined location - it also finds and destroys scattered tumour cells even though they are not clustered in an identifiable tumour.

Treatment of benign tumours

For benign tissue augmentation in the prostate (benign prostate hyperplasia), the treatment strategy is slightly different. This type of tumour predominantly affects the whole prostate region. Therapy for this illness requires a regular heat build-up. This functions as an active factor; for example the temperature is crucial for the effectiveness and it can be increased to physiological toxicity. The exact temperature will be determined and controlled through the microprocessors that are part of the catheter. The treatment parameters have a curative effect on benign prostate tumours, and guarantee certainty for the cancer treatment.

Side effects, Contraindication

The method has no side effects. There are no risks for incontinence or impotence. Any patient in good general health can benefit from this therapy; there are no contraindications. Scarring of the urethra is a limiting factor, as well as a significant enlargement of the prostate. A test catheterisation can give clarity in these cases.

Special Pain Therapy

The holistic special pain therapy analyses and treats the actual cause of long-term pain.

In conventional medicine, chronic pains are often treated with drugs. By doing this, the cause, which may have a body or mind background, is rarely treated. Our experience in holistic pain therapy shows that an adverse building and workplace biology, wrong diet, unrecognised emotional conflicts, or wrongly processed problems on all body levels can be a cause for pain.

HOLISTIC BIOLOGICAL DIAGNOSTICS

Precise and comprehensive diagnostics are the basis for your optimal treatment. During this, all levels of the human organism are integrated – body, mind and soul. We spend time with you and take notes about your pain according to type, intensity and frequency.

During holistic pain therapy, we spend time with you to analyse the cause of the pain in detail on all body levels. On the basis of trust and acceptance, you are included in the search for your individual, optimal pain solution mechanism. The holistic pain therapy places biologically based medicine, as well as alternative medicines, in the centre of the efforts for influencing the pain, on the basis of multicausality and natural laws. Regulation supporting treatments within the holistic pain therapy all pursue the same target: to influence the pain with a maximum amount of self-regulation for a happy life without long-term pain.

Revitalisation through biological medicine

Vitality is a metaphor for a vital life, life energy, and is the basis for well-being of body and mind. This energy is called CHI in Chinese medicine, and has three main sources:

- The energy from breathing - taking in oxygen as a source for oxidative energy extraction in our cells;
- The energy from our diet - taking in life-supporting nutrients and liquids as the basis for the provision of life supporting elements for our cells;
- And the universal (cosmic, divine) power as a source for belief, life purpose, love and meaning of life.

If our vitality is reduced through a negligent lifestyle and a harmful environment, holistic biological medicine specifically targets your individual vitality sources.

On the one hand, the life and survival of our cells depends on the tissue's skills of cell regeneration. On the other hand, it is important that the cells can clean themselves and that the excretion processes work correctly. The following table shows the lifetime of the most important organs and tissue.

In practice, targeted biological revitalisation means holistic diagnostics (BioCheck, VitalCheck) in order to find individual weaknesses in performance development and performance improvement.

Celltherapy (with fresh cell organo extracts and stem cell facilitators)

The organ specimens have the following effective ingredients:

- Organ-typical enzymes (for example Thymosin, Thymolin, Splenin);
- Organ-typical mediators and micro hormones (many cytokines);
- Organ-typical growth factors (for example thymopoietin);
- Organ-typical lower molecular cell and cell environment substances (for example PG and GAG fragments, dissolved substances, colloids);
- Organ-typical information (saved in DNA and RNA fragments as well pseudo crystalline water).

Basics of cell therapeutic substances

Cell therapeutics are xenogeneic extracts of certain organs from calves, piglets or lambs. There are deep frozen extracts (for example THX extract from Thymus), as well as cell specimens having foetal origins (for production of stem cell facilitators).

Effect of Organo and cell therapeutic substances

Based on the ingredients, the organo-peptide substances are expected to have a complex effect. The crucial molecular mechanism of action is the so-called homing effect, or organotropism. In 1999, Prof BLOBEL received the Nobel Prize for this discovery - all cells possess organ-typical intrinsic signals which make it possible to re-discover the source tissue, even after application in a foreign organism. The cell adhesion molecules, or so called "homing receptors", are much smaller than the antigens on the surface of the cell walls, which are also called histocompatibility antigens. Also, beside the lymphocytes, homing receptors have been found for other cell systems and organs, mostly featuring glycoprotein and mucin related addressins (LOFFLER AND PETRIDES 2003).

NEW: Stimulation and Rejuvenation with stem cell facilitators (SCF)

Like a bee queen in the beehive every organ and tissue has so-called stem cells livelong, which are responsible for a continuous output of new cells for regeneration and healing. With the help of modern biotechnology it is possible to isolate, concentrate the most important stem cells from fetal animal sources. Together with spezial biomodifiers this stem cell preparations have facilitating characteristics. The stimulative effect depends on the kind of this omnipotent cells. For example SCF of mesenchyme especially encourages all immunologic relevant organs like thymus, bone marrow, liver, lymphatic tissue and spleen.

Energy Information and Quantum Medicine

The medicine of the 21st Century

Natural biological treatment means treatment in all levels – body, mind and soul.

It is well known that there are currents in our body - particularly in our nervous system. If we look closely, we can recognise that in particular the electrons are of specific importance because they are within all the atoms in the whole body. Therefore, the body can also be affected through them.

What is with the energy?

Carlo Rubbia has got the Nobel price in physics in 1984 for the find of the ratio of matter to energy: It is one in a billion. Health has to do with energy. Health equals energy. Feelings are – as proven – electromagnetic effects which operate in the body through hormones and other semi chemicals. Therefore, the soul emerges as a body of energy which can be easily measured and treated through electric and electromagnetic methods.

Different applications of magnetic field therapy are well known methods, such as whole body magnetic field therapy for vascular dilation purposes and for harmonisation. Lasers are also widely used for area laser or local laser treatment.

Current treatment is often used for the reduction of pain (TENS), but is also utilised in cancer medicine. For example, a direct current field is created around the tumour during Electro Cancer Therapy. The low resistance of the tumour cells is used to achieve an increased current flow which results in the deterioration of the cancer growth.

The medicine of the 21st Century

Remarkable results can also be monitored in special energy pads which are applied to predefined acupuncture points and begin to work through the body contact and body heat. In this treatment, the body does not receive any solid substances. The reason behind the pads is to give the body instructions, for example constant mobilisation and regulation of energy reserves. There are also pads which can stimulate the secretion of toxic substances, ease pain, improve healthy sleeping, regenerate stressed cells (for example caused by lifestyle, diet or environmental factors), and can positively influence the ageing process. It is important to note that these pads do not have any side effects.

“The mind is the source of all disease.” (Japanese proverb)

Quantum medicine is a type of medicine which uses scientific findings in physics - in particular quantum physics - which are then used for diagnosis and therapy.

We can achieve this with technical devices in diagnostics and therapy, for example Quantec, Time Waver or Ingenium. The applied findings of quantum physics and neurobiology can support the patient directly or indirectly.
